Site no.: Q17

Site name: Chreagdhubh Lodge panorama

Grid reference: [NN 67769 95136]

Locality: Strathspey in the vicinity of Chreagdhubh Lodge and the Woods of Glentruim, 5 km SW of Newtonmore.

GCR Status: N/A

GCR No.: N/A

Type: Landform assemblage

Description: A suite of pristine glacial, fluvioglacial and alluvial features, including eskers, kettleholes and kame terraces.

Justification: This visually attractive suite of features is visible from the Cluny's Cave carpark, where a interpretive display board could be erected. The landforms were mainly formed at the snout of an outlet glacier, flowing from the west, that existed for a while during ice-sheet deglaciation.

References